

CLAUDIA HAFNER WATERCOLOR
Portraits of Life

Exhibits, exhibits, exhibits. So many exhibits this season, it took me by surprise! I'm listing below some of the pieces showing in each of the exhibits, with information on attending.

I am also in the throes of creating a new website which will allow the purchase of my originals directly, as well as prints and other merchandise featuring my art work. A lot of decision-making always seems to slow me down. But as with most things, it will suddenly be done. And that will be a good thing, although website upkeep never ends.

As a heads up, I will be asking my subscribers to this newsletter (you) to re-subscribe. I am moving my list from Constant Contact to MailChimp. So stay tuned for information and action for you to take.

Florida weather has been absolutely lovely. We have been blessed with cooler temperatures, allowing full enjoyment of the outdoors. To that end, I will be out taking photographs which I hope will inspire my next paintings. Enjoying your spring.
